Howdy Rob,
Enclosed are three copies of the March 2010 edition of In The Wind, Number 140. These are first-run issues from the printer and we wanted you to get them as soon as possible, certainly before the magazine hits newsstands worldwide on November 24.

On behalf of the editorial and art staff at Paisano Publications—the dusty dudes and delightful dolls behind In The Wind, Easyriders, Biker, V-Twin, and Rebel Rodz—we salute you. A love for riding, as exhibited by yourself and the Rip City Riders, is obvious. The tireless efforts your organization imparts, working for less fortunate, in-need citizens, is commendable. The Rip City Riders are a great example and positive role model for all riders—young and...er, “experienced,” providing a shot in the arm for the public image of the modern biker. Your club’s ability to go all-out for others—while mixing in fun—is admirable, and hopefully, contagious, especially now as our country struggles through its current economic queasiness. While those with smaller balls and lesser brass take cover, waiting and whining for help to future glory, the American bikers comprising the Bay Area’s Rip City Riders provide a ray of hope every day. And for that, we thank you.

Ride easy,

Kim Peterson
Editor, In The Wind
